LET'S GET GRANULAR

Select the Sports Field's Premier Conditioner

Specifically designed with the input of professional groundskeepers, Pro League® Elite™ performs at every level of play. It's the ideal topdressing material for skinned infields, providing clean, uniform particle sizing, consistency from bag to bag, and long-lasting durability.

Here are a few reasons why so many choose and trust Turface Pro League Elite:

- Creates a consistent balance of moisture in the infield mix by holding and releasing water over time to maintain optimum moisture for a longer period of time.
- Covers up to 20% more area than other calcined materials which means great value for your investment.
- As the industry's most stable conditioner, Turface Pro League Elite reflects the highest standards in quality, performance and innovation.
- Delivers the highest absorption rate of any calcined clay particle in the market.
- With industry-leading quality and four colors to choose from, Turface Pro League Elite is your best choice for professional grade surfaces.
- Uniform particles are easy to drag and don't migrate down into the mix, giving you better protection on the top of your infield.

"Players notice the difference with Pro League Elite on day one. The ball stays down all the way and they know they can go 110% and get a true hop – the conditioner on the top is the biggest factor with the way the ball rolls. This is a field manager's dream for an infield conditioner. It's very clean and a great evolution for our industry."

Recommended Application Rate:

At the start of the season, apply 2-3 pallets of Pro League Elite as a topdressing. Refresh areas of the infield by applying 50-pound bags as needed.

The recommended rate of application for a 1/4-inch topdressing is 500 pounds per 1,000 square feet. This equates to ten 50-pound bags per 1,000 square feet or about three pallets on a standard baseball infield of 11,000 square feet of dirt.
